ROME, Aug. 20 .- "Together in one, all things in Christ." These words, which Pope Pius X adopted as his motto in an encyclical issued August 10, 1903, six days after he had been elevated to the pontificate, were on his lips as he died.

The end, which came at 1:20 o'clock this morning, was peaceful. A few moments before he had been roused from semi-consciousness. He attempted to bestow a blessing upon those gathered in the chamber, but his strength failed. After a pause he murmured the scriptural text and did not speak again.

Father Francis Xavier Wernz, General of the Society of Jesus, also died in Rome this morning. Father Wernz was called "The Black Pope," a nickname used to indicate his power behind the throne. The late Pius X was generally known as "The White Pope."

In case of the death of Pope Pius X, however, on account of the hour of his death, such precautions were not necessary.

The death of the Pontiff in the eightieth year of his life and the twelfth war of his pontificate, while long expected because of ailment incident to advanced age, nevertheless came as a shock even to those near him. For sicians said the trouble was of no great importance, and yesterday morning

The change came suddenly yesterday morning and early in the afternoon hose in attendance announced death was imminent. Similar attacks had nisted with the aid of the Pope's will power, but depression over the clash of arms in Europe militated against another recovery.

Painful Struggle to Breathe During the Night.

At 10 o'clock last night the Pontiff experienced an attack of coughing that distressed him. He could not move in bed without assistance and the struggle he made to breathe was painful to witness. As the supreme me ment approached the coughing ceased and the restlessness which the doctor had been unable to relieve disappeared. The features of the patient, which bac given evidence of his pain, resumed a normal expression except for the pallor which increased.

The Papal Secretary of State, Cardinal Merry del Val, Cardinals Fer rata, Cagiano and Bisleti, the Pope's two sisters, and physicians who were at the bedside recognized the calm preceding death. Dr. Marchiafava, his hand on the Pontiff's pulse, turned toward the Papal Secretary, who was kneeling, and shook his head. Cardinal Merry del Val understood and covered his face with his hands. Meantime, Cardinal Vannutelli, the Pope's niece, Gilda Parolin, his major domo, Mgr. Bianchi, Mgr. Misciatelli and his secretaries, Mgr. Bressan and Mgr. Pescina, bad joined the group in the Immediately afterward, candle lights flickered in all the windows of the Vatican and the whole personnel of the apostolic palace, with the per mission of the papal secretary, passed by the body, kissing the hand of the Pontiff as they passed. Throughout the night messages had been received from the heads of many states inquiring the condition of his holiness. All were notified immediately of his death by Cardinal Merry del Val.

Brussels Believed to Have Fallen Before German Advance

LONDON, Aug. 20 .- 4:20 p. m. . The almost complete absence of news from the theater of war loday is the best evidence that big events are in progress, which vill test the real calibre of the battalions today engaged in the 'new Waterloo,' or the "new Sedan." That the great German advance is being pushed with vigor and etermination can be safely asserted, judging from the intelligence rmitted to the outside world. On both banks of the Meuse the dermans are crowding southward toward the entrenched French rmy waiting to stem their progress toward Sedan and Paris.

The invaders already have reached a line between Dinant and Neufchateau, the latter point being less than 25 miles from Sedan s the crow flies. To the northward their advance troops have reached the River Dyle, near Malines, almost midway between Brussels and Antwerp.

Before this northward rush the Belgian forces are retiring on Antwerp. In Brussels they call this a "strategic retreat." Whether the movement is strategic or forced, the Germans have gained much ground in the direction of Brussels. Should they however, take advantage of this tempting opening for a raid on the Belgian capital, they may find the now-retreating Belgian army sweeping down on them from behind.

An official communication issued at Paris last night states that very large German forces are crossing the Meuse between Liege and Namur. The statement continues:

'The French army is making a rapid advance on the Zille River (in Lorraine), and at the end of the day have reached Delme on one side of the river and Morhange on the other."

Since then there has been continued fighting in that region until a day or two ago, when it ended in the victorious advance of the French forces, who inflicted a decisive defeat on the enemy and drove them back across the frontier east of Luneville. BRUSSELS, via London, Aug. 20.-Brussels was very nervous last evening and there seems to be good reasons. All the official statements as to the position of the enemy are reassuring, but so they have been every day. The nerves of the residents are taut and strained. The rising sun which gilded the image of St. Joseph on the wall by the Pontiff's bed, found the Franciscan penetentiaries keeping the dead watch and murmuring prayers. Outside, St. Peters Square, which had been filled throughout the night with persons of every rank until the death of the Pope was announced, was deserted.

Monsignor Zampini, of the Pope's household, a sisted by the secretary and the Pontiff's valet, laid out the body, placed the crucifix in the hands church steeple continued to ravage the and stationed lighted candles about the bed.

Throughout the night carriages crowded near the Vatican bringing diplomats and noblemen. The Knights of Malta mingled with Bishops, priests, monks and nuns, making inquiry in many tongues. Those who were admitted to the palace climbed the royal staircase to the papal ante chamber, where Swiss guards in their multi-colored uniforms paraded solemnly up and down.

Distressed at Inability to Stop the War.

Once yesterday the Pope, referring to the war, said: "In ancient times the Pope by a word might have stayed the slaughter, but now he is impotent.' When the court learned of the Pope's condition King Victor Emmanuel personally informed Queen Helena and the news was communicated to the Queen Mother.

Extreme unction was administered by Mgr. Zampini, sacristan to His Holiness, amid a touching scene. The sisters of the Pope and his niece were vercome with grief. Cardinal Merry del Val knelt by the side of his bed, where other Cardinals joined him, the members of the household intoning

The dying Pope, in a moment of lucidity, said:

"Now I begin to think, as the end is approaching, that the Almighty, His mexhaustible goodness, wishes to spare me the horrors Europe udergoing."

It is pointed out that the Pope died on Aug. 20, exactly 11 years and on onth after the death of Pope Leo on July 20, 1903.

It is expected that the conclave for the election of a Pope will be held n Sept. 3, after a delay to give time for the Cardinals from several countries

Household Ignorant of Condition Up to Noon.

Yesterday was one of the most anxious days in the history of the Papacy. The whole world knew that the Pope was indisposed, but it was supposed he was suffering from his usual ailment—gout. Up to noon even METHOD OF CHOOSING NEW Papacy. The whole world knew that the Pope was indisposed, but it was the members of the household were unaware of the seriousness of the developpients. Almost without warning came the word that the Pentiff was at

All day his agony continued. 'At times he revived and was able to say a few words, but hope of saving him finally was abandoned. Several times throughout the city and at the palace the rumor spread that the end had come, only to be denied later.

In the presence of Cardinal Merry del Val, the papal secretary, and Cardinals Ferrata, Cagiano and Bisleti and the two sisters of the Pope, a bulletin on the condition of the Pontiff was posted early in the afternoon on the bronze door of the Vatican, where the Swiss guards stood watch. A great crowd outside gazed with grief-stricken faces up at the Pope's chamber on the second floor, where the windows were closed with shades.

A delay in issuing a bulletin at night caused suspicion that the end had come, while the withdrawal of the Noble Guard from before the door of the sick chamber caused the rumor that the Pope was better as the guard is supposed to maintain watch over the person of the Pontiff, without pause, until death ensues or he is out of danger. It was learned that the guard had een withdrawn, howevebr, because of overfatigue.

Nobles and citizens wishing to hear the latest word from the bedside gathered in groups in the streets near the Vatican. Some of them shed tears and there were whispered stories of the goodness of the Pope and the piety of his sisters.

Urgent telegrams were sent to Cardinal Farley, who is in Switzerland and the Holy See notified all the Cardinals living in Rome or other parts of Italy of the grave situation. All the churches and clergy in Rome likewise were notified.

Chamberlain Summoned to Tak e Charge of Church.

Cardinal Della Volpe, Chamberlain of the Church, who, on the Pope's leath, assumes direction of the Holy See during the interregnum, was sumnoned from Imola, and started immediately.

A message was sent to the Pope's brother, Angelo, urging him to come Rome as quickly as possible, while the Pope's niece, Signora Parolin, eached the Vatican before death ensued.

Confusion reigned at the Vatican because, with the exception of the Papal Secretary, those who take charge of affairs in such an emergency ere out of Rome, so little expected was the death of the Pope.

Outside the apostolic palace the scene was mournful. From early in the day automobiles and carriages carrying Cardinals and high ecclesiastics to the Vatican passed continuously. Hundreds of visitors made inquiry garding the Pope's condition and so many telegrams arrived that it was impossible to open half of them.

The Giornale d'Italia, discussing the difficulty or holding a conclave for the election of a Pope, while Europe is at war, says that even if Italy were among the belligerents, every facility would be given to the Sacred College

Cardinal Sarto always maintained friendly relations with the members of the House of Savoy. So much so, in fact, that at the time of the conclave after Leo XIII's death, it was said that Sarto was the "Quirinal andidate" for the papacy.

Cardinal Sarto brought about many reforms in the diocese of Venice, One of the most notable was the abolition of profane music from the churches and the revival of the Gregorian chant, which is the historic musical language of the church. He was a good musician, ing to hear good music played by others. A fellow Cardinal says of his election as Pope:

"The votes for Cardinal Sarto steadily increased from the first to the seventh ballot, on which he was elected. When the Cardinal observed that the Suffrages for him were augmenting, he was visibly disturbed, and in a fervent speech he implored his colleagues not to regard him as a candidate. Contrary to his wishes, the votes for him increased. He then became alarmed, and in a second speech, in most pathetic language, he again besought the Cardinals to forget his name, as he could not accept a burden too heavy for him to bear.

"When his election was officially announced his florid countenance assumed a deathly pallor, and restoratives were applied to save him from fainting. By Richard Harding Davis President Wilson Approves the BRUSSELS, Aug. 13, noon (Delayed).— The censor allows the newspaper Le Derniere Heure this morning to state that shells are falling in Tiriemont, and that a dozen houses are on fire. Last night refugees from Tiriemont-arrived here on the last train from that city. This morning they are coming in by motor cars. They left so suddenly that they have not even hand baggage.

Their cars are repeatedly stopped and news of the attack near Tirlement is demanded, but their news is as scanty as news of the attack near Tirlemont is de-manded, but their news is as scanty as their luggage, and like the stories of all project, which has President Wilson's ho ran away, is exaggerated.

Yesterday I was close to Tirlemont ture of $25,000,000 by the United States with a column of French dragoons and artillery that was the rear guard of a large body of the French forces. While I am not permitted to state what I saw, it was of a nature to thoroughly convince one that the Germans were withswing at that hour.

HOW TO PREVENT ACID STOMACHS AND FOOD FERMENTATION

years in the study and treatment of stomach troubles, I have been forced to the conclusion that most people who complain of stomach trouble possess stomachs that are absolutely healthy and normal. The real trouble, that which causes all the pain and difficulty, is excessive acid in the stomach aggravated by food fermentation. Hyper-acidity irritates the delicate lining of the stomach and food fermentation causes wind which distends the stomach abnormally, causing that full bloated feeling. Thus both acid and fermentation interfere with and retard the process of digestion. The stomach is usually healthy and normal, but irritated almost past enduring the stomach is usually healthy and normal, but irritated almost past enduring and with the stomach is usually healthy and normal, but irritated almost past enduring the stomach is usually healthy and stomach difficulties—the first and only step necessary is to neutralize the acid and stop the ferments on by taking in a little warm or cold water immediately after eating, from one to two teaspoonfuls of bisurated magnesia, which is doubtless the best and only really effective antacid and food corrective known. The acid will be neutralized and the process of the survailed and the s

Plan to Expend $25,000,000 for Ships.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20,-Establishment of a fleet of Government merchantmen to transport abroad the products of American farms and factories while freight ships of other nations are tied up by war in Europe is proposed in a bill upon which administration approval, would embrace the expendi-ture of $25,000,000 by the United States

Hearings on this bill were begun in the Senate and House Commerce Committees today, and in a short time both of the committees ordered a favorable report on it. It was stated before the Senate Committee that approximately 300 foreign built ships were ready to apply for American registry if they could get Govrnment war risk insurance.

The length of time that the Govern chant fleet after the passage of the Eu rope crisis has not been considered, but it has been suggested that some of the ships might be retained as naval auxiliaries or as transports. The Government would make money out of the project, it was predicted, but that phase did not figure in the administration's program. Owners Ready to Sell.

The ships, it is planned, will sail wherever there is a demand for transportation. One outstanding benefit to be realized, however, administration leaders hope, will be the establishment of close relations with the countries of Central and South America, whose shipping fa-cilities have been seriously affected by steamers of the nations at war.

The new shipping bill will propose the creation of a commission to consist of the President, the Secretaries of Com-merce and Treasury and the Postmaster-General, to have charge of securing the ships and outfitting them. Then it is proposed to organize a corporation similar to the Panama Railway Co., under ment control, for operation of the leet after it has been acquired.

It was said today that owners of many vessels now tied up in American orts would be glad to dispose of them.

Many Ships to Register.

Vessels flying foreign colors are ex-ected to immediately begin applying for American registry under the law which has just been passed by Congress. The Department of Commerce, through the Navigation Bureau, is sending out copies of the law to the various ports and shipping interests and as soon as there is a general familiarity with the terms of the new legislation the augmenting of the American merchant marine is expected to get in full swing.

How many vassels are likely to come under the American flag under stimulus both the Treasury and Commerce De-partment officials as well as the maritine terests are looking ahead to enactment of the war risk insurance bill into law to boom the transatlantic trade and help in the present disturbed state of the export trade.

The committee's reports show that conditions are very good in some sections and very poor in others. Excessive rain in the early growing season and later drouths have fnjured the crop in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Missouri. Kentucky, Mississippi, Louisiana and Alabama suffered from a severe drouth.

The prospective crop in Missouri is probably 175,000,000 to 180,000,000 bushels, and in Illinois 25,000,000 to 30,000,000 bushels more than last year.

They were untiring in their good work, and they, too, have broken all Fund records in this especial line of helpful endeavor.

In addition to the great audience that ssembled on the Jaspering lawn on the vening of the carnival there was also a large number who witnessed the beautiful scene from automobiles and from the crest of nearby heights. The lawn presented a most inviting appearance. It was picturequely illuminated with elecwas picturequely illuminated with elec-tric lights. St. Louis Headquarters for Pictorial Review Patterns

Despite the fact that the production of European mer-chandise is materially lessened on account of the European War, this store, in a spirit of fairness to its public, will not raise the price of any yard or piece of European merchan-dise now on hand, even though every mail brings us notices of increased prices on foreign products.

The fact that it may be impossible to duplicate many of the lines when the present stock is exhausted should urge you to anticipate future needs now.

Eagle Stamps Can Greatly Help to Lessen the High Cost of Living

Through the co-operative Eagle Stamp plan, St. Louisans who ask for Eagle Stamps with their cash purchases actually earn money on the money they spend, & this saving assumes surprising proportions in the course of a year. Many people gather Eagle Stamps & negotiate their completed books once a year, some twice a year & others three times a year, a utilize their proceeds in the purchase of needed wearables & household necessities. It is like adding money to your bank account each week, to be a consistent Eagle Stamp collector, & the returns more than justify the very little time it takes to paste your Eagle Stamps in the Eagle Stamp books as they are received. This store gives & will continue to give Eagle Stamps because they are of incalculable value to the people.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Later Closing of the Public Libraries.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

It is well noted, I believe, that (excluding womand children) most of the public library's visitors are manual laborers who, after supper, go there with the double purpose of resting their bedies and of reading, for, while the body is resting, the mind can be as well concentrated on reading matter as on day-dreams—thus, as they say, killing two birds with one stone. But many of these laborers don't get to the library 'till p. m., and by the time they choose the matter they will read it is near closing, so that they have no opportunity of finishing what they begin in one night. It is this that I would emendate. would please all the lucubrators who visit the place. I would, therefore, suggest that they keep the most needed room, vis., the reference and the rooms, respectively, open, as they do all and floor rooms, in winter, till 10 p. m.

By the way, why do they keep the books in the suit a book in that room we must ask an emence room for it.

THE NAVY GOING TO WORK.

President Wilson sees the light on the question of quick relief for the blockade of American products seeking ready markets abroad. Wednesday he was reported to have approved the plan; originally suggested and urged by the Post-Dispatch for the Government to buy ships to be used for the transportation of American foodstuffs to foreign markets.

It was agreed to ask Congress for an appro riation of $25,000,000 for this purpose.

The acceptance of this practical and efficien plan of relieving the business crisis and breakin the commercial blockade marks a quick and decisive victory of sound judgment and progressive action in dealing with the emergency.

The first suggestion of Government purchase of freight vessels was made in the Post-Dispatch of Aug. 9. Noting the crisis caused by the stoppage of ocean transportation and the abandonment of grain trains, the Post-Dispatch demanded prompt action on the part of Congress to relieve the sitvation. We said in part:

Senator Newlands' suggestion that the Government be authorized to provide for the construction of 30 vessels, to be used as auxilary ships to the navy or for use in com-mercial or navy mail lines, is good, but it does not offer aid in the present emergency. Why wait to build ships? Why not buy ships? If the American Government can authorize the building of ships for commerce, the American Government can buy ships for commerce. Most of the vessels belonging to French, British, German, Belgian and other foreign corporations and individuals, can be bought for a small percentage of their value. As a business policy the Government would do far better to appropriate sufficient money to buy a fleet of commercial vessels for immediate use, than to authorize the building of any number of vessels for use next year or the year after or five years hence, when crisis is past. It is doubtful whether admitting foreign-built ships to American registry would meet the emergency. It might help. But corporations would have to be organised, private capital enlisted and assurances of the safety of these ships would have to be given by Congress.

Ships owned by the Government, operated under the American flag and put into commission solely for the purpose of meeting the needs of the civilized world, would be regarded with approval by the European na-tions which will control the seas, and which have as much need for our foodstuff market.

The opportunity for trade in South and Central America and in Asia and Africa. which the Post-Dispatch urged the American merchants and manufacturers to selze de-pends upon adequate shipping facilities. Without means of distributing American progress can provide the means, Repeating the demand on August 11, we said under the headline "Action, Action, Action!": The country could well afford to spend millions in getting American products to for-eign markets all over the world. Every dollar expended in this way would be a splendid investment, not alone for the immediate profit, but for future frade with foreign countries which hitherto have bought sup-lies from Europe. • • The great opportunity now inviting American industry and trade depends upon ship-ping facilities. Private enterprise will supply the deficiency in time, but it takes time to organize private capital. The Government is organized and has the men and the money.

Action, action, action—that is the pressing duty of Congress and the administration. Keep the railroad trains moving; get the products to the waiting markets.
Commending Senator Stone's able speech in sup ort of the plan we said on August 18:

The Post-Dispatch repeats with urgent emphasis our suggestion that the Government use all of its naval transport facilities and bring sufficient naval auxiliaries to meet the immediate emergency. Authorizing private capital to act under enlarged powers is a step in the right direction for the future, but it does not assure a supply of ships for the pressing needs of the farmers, manufacturers merchants. It does not lift the blockade on American products which is putting the railroads out of business and is creating a menacing business crisis.

The United States is now the supply depot shall be utilized for the benefit of the American people who have the products to sell and the foreign people who need the products, depends upon whether we have the wisdom and the courage to use the Government resources and facilities which lie at hand; whether have the breadth of mind and the strength of will to rise to the emergency and the oppor-

Ocean shipping in this case may be regarded ment owns and operates for the public welfare. We can assure Congress that the public welfare is greatly involved in the quesfull powers and resources may inflict untold

Prompt congressional action on the plan approved by the President will not only afford imnediate relief of our glut and of foreign need, but will enable American producers to seize the great opportunities for profitable trade in markets broad. If $25,000,000 is not enough more should be appropriated. Every dollar expended for ocean now will bring ten in American benefits which will be shared immediately by other peo-

While the Federal Government is using its organized forces to keep American products moving to market, private capital can be organizing to build the permanent merchant marine and to gain the place in the ocean carrying traffic which rightfully belong to us.

UNSEEMLY HASTE.

When a newspaper announces the death of great public man several hours before his death; then it publishes several editions, repeating, without verification, what, in the light of fact, is false, the act may be characterized as unseemly

It is enough that a man must die when the hour omes, without having to fear that vendors of news will attempt to make a profit by exploiting his decease while he still breathes.

The ships of the hypothetical fleet were represented by targets moving eight miles an hour. Ten of the 12 targets were smashed before they could get within warship gun range of the fort.

That was good work, but it doesn't class, of

POPE PIUS X.

The elasticity and adaptiveness of the Catholic church system was well illustrated in the contrast between Pope Pius X, whose death has sent sorrow to millions of people throughout the civilized world, and his famous predecessor.

Leo XIII was of aristocratic birth. As a Papai Delegate in Benevento and again in Perugia in early life he used not only civil but military powers with decision and even sharpness. He moved in the world of affairs as an equal of the best intellects; and when, already 68 years old, he was chosen Pope it was to begin a full quarter century of activity as one of the master politicians of his time. He urged all Catholics to support the governments of the lands they lived in, even to condemning the Irish "plan of campaign" of 1888; was sympathetic with progressive ideas affecting laboring men; in a word, was alive to modernity.

Perhaps after a statesman the church needed a Shepherd Pope, who would be a pattern to his flock of humble plety. Plus X was for 17 years a parish priest. His family was plain; himself simple and humble to a fault. At 45, an age when Leo had long been distinguished, he refused a bishopric. He was nearly 60 when he was finally made a Cardinal and patriarch of Venice, where for 10 years he continued to live with utmost simplicity. He took to the Vatican a return railway ticket to Venice, which he nad procured on starting for Rome without personal expectations to be elected a successor to Peter. He was not ambitious. Leo at his best, as when he brought Bismarck to Canossa and ended the German Kulturkampf, or when he persuaded French Catholics to support the republic, much against their will, would probably have handled more skilfully than Pius the difficulties of France over the Concordat; he might have spared French priests and prelates some of the crael consequences of the late troubles between church and state. But the strong Italian feeling of Pius enabled him in his own country to bring the relations between "blacks" and "whites" to a far more satisfactory state; his well understood interest in the Italian cause in Tripoli brought him a generous share in the "era of good feeling" which that enterprise set up among Italian parties.

That war extended the boundaries of Christendom. His grief that his pontificate should see all Europe itself, the nourisher of Christianity, the first continent won for the Master, torn in barbaric conflict, can be appreciated by a world which had come to know and accurately to appraise his fine spirituality. The words in which he himself described the heaviness of the blow: "our heart is wrung with the bitterest sorrow." undoubtedly describe his true feeling. His death must be included among the earliest and most dramatic of the lamentable results flowing from this anachronistic war.

Kindly, straightforward and devoted the late Pope was not a Lee; a strong lion of the church tamer of Emperors. His chosen title, Plus, described his character and fitted his pontificate.

THE BUGGED SPIRIT OF THE YEAR.

Speaking of war, the American football rules for 1914 require the ball to be put in play by scrimmage on the 20-yard line after a touchback or safety. This is the principal change from the rules for 1918. It lays upon members of the weaker team a heavier task than they had last year, and with due respect, probably, for the current fashions, increases the likelihood of broken bones and wrenched ankles.

SLOW TO LEARN.

Herman Ridder, editor of the New York Staats Zeitung, urges the United States to forbid Japan attack Germany's Chinese colony at Kiauchat and to assume guardianship of it herself.

German-American citizens who counsel this ountry of their adoption to violate its neutrality and seek trouble, prove themselves wanting in due appreciation of the haven of liberty and security which they have found here, and slow o learn the lesson of the terrible events now taking place in Europe.

Germany seized her Chinese colony by force of rms, in defiance of the American policy for the preservation of China's territorial integrity.

The American policy, based on fundamental justice, has been and is: the Americas for the Americans, Europe for the Europeans, Asia tor the Asiatics and free, friendly interchange of ideas and commodities between them all.

There isn't a chance that our Government will now be guilty of the folly of trying to pull Germany's Chinese chestnuts out of the fire.

AN UNJUST DESERTION CHARGE.

Edward Murray was taken from his job with quire that country to give a bond. bridge gang in Fort Smith, Ark., and brought to St. Louis under arrest as a deserter. After being when the Scotch bagpipers meet the litimprisoned for two weeks it was discovered that the German band. there was no case against him, as he had been dishonorably discharged from the army. He was then released, penniless and without transportation back to his job.

Whether the arrest was due to the zeal of som police officer anxious to earn a $50 reward, is no stated, but the case illustrates the practical work ings of the policy of making desertion in time of peace a penal offense. The army should adopt the navy's sensible plan of dealing with deserters.

WAR AND THE PANAMA SHOW.

It is announced that whether or not the war is prolonged into 1915, the Panama Exposition at San Francisco will not be postponed. "Nations at peace cannot, even if they wish, avoid profiting by the disasters of the nations at war," says Charles C. Moore, president of the company. "There is no ethical or economic reason why the progress of the whole world should be arrested because a portion of it is fighting."

These are brave words when the effect on exhibits with half the population of the world and more than half of its territory at war is considered. But if the war continues all next year, the influence on attendance ought to be beneficial. That large proportion of the American people who normally go to Europe every summer may be expected to go to the exposition

At the Postoffice a few days ago Frisby Hancock brought up the subject of hawks, buzzards and other such wild game, and emembered the biggest hawk he ever say one over near Bounding Billows a years ago. He says it roosted for many years in an old barn. It measured more than 50 feet from tip to tip, and many a time he has seen it swoop down and take a cow right out of the pasture in its claws. Following this hawk was a young one that would always come right along behind and get the calf. Raz Barlow will leave in a day or two for a vacation trip through the Calf Riba neighborhood. A Physician's Advice

Most thin people eat from four to six pounds of good, soild, fat-making food every day and still do not increase in weight one ounce, while on the other hand, many of the plump, chunky folks eat very lightly and keep gaining all the time. Thin folks stay thin because their powers of assimilation are defective. Tay absorb just enough of the food they sat to maintain life and a semilance of hasith and strength. THIRTY-TWO years ago an eminent phrenologist of Cincinnati examined the bumps on Miller Huggins' thought tower and made this entry in the Huggins family Bible:

Baseball Maxims of Huggins .. THINK speed is the most essential requisite of a winning ball

"Next to speed I want harmony. I didn't have any of that last season. "I favor morning meetings, even if I don't hold them regularly. Often I can do more by a heart-to-heart talk with a player.

"My club is the best behaved team in the major leagues. The players deserve a lot of credit for their efforts this season.

"I traded Koney and Mowrey chiefly to get some base runners. I think a good base runner can break up as many games as a hitter.

"I am 34 years old, and kindly get it right."

WE'VE seen a score of pitchers And some of them were good, we've followed them through many ups and downs.

But We'lman is the daddy of the lot. He's 6 feet, 6 or 7 in his sox and hasn't finished growing up, at that;

And when he takes his station in the box. Then here's to you, Mr. Weilman, with six feet and a half!

One of the toughest breaks of the war for the poets lariat is that by no stretch of poetic license can they make Liege rhyme with siege.

On account of yesterday's game being postponed, the Terriers will stage a double tailer today.

It now develops that the serious illness of Jack Coombs was caused by being bitten on the spine by a cockroach during a training trip down South. You wouldn't think the little devils had it in 'em, would you?

Some one has suggested that a separate record be kept of right-handed batters, and those who slug the pill from the port side of the rubber. Fine! And there's the guy that bats both right and left handed, not to mention the kink that bats neither right or left handed, whose average is expressed in decimal points and ciphers.

String of Victories Totals One Game, but Rickeyites Have Hopes of Doing Better.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.-Having gained an even break so far in the two games played with the Nationals, Man-ager Rickey will strive for the odd verdict in today's contest by using Walter Leverenz, his third left-hander. Levernz is rounding to form after having been practically useless all summer and the Browns' manager has hopes of the portsider coming through with a victory. water Johnson, who is having the most miserable season of his career, may face the Browns.

Yesterday's game was won by the Browns, 8-5, because they patted every pitcher Manager Griffith used. Harper, Shaw, Bentley and Barron were used in that order. Long Carl Weilman started hurling for the Browns and did splendidly until the seventh. Then he filled the bases and Roy Mitchell came in and stopped the rally. Mitchell, however, had a bit of difficulty in the eighth when the Griffmen shoved over four runs. However, the Browns had a winning advantage.

Two More for Lavan.

Manager Rickey again shifted his lineup with good results. Johnny Lavan, who has been hitting like a house aftro, was used as the new lead-off and did Scout Mike Kahoe of the Washington club, returned today from a jaunt in the bushes with 'proud praises for Henri Rondeau, the catcher-out-fielder whom he obtained from the Minneapolis (American Association) team. Rondeau, a former Tiger, will not report until next spring. The Washington club is to give Joe Cantillon four players in exchange for the Frenchman.

Kahoe thwarted efforts of the Federal League to seize Rondeau by signing him to a Washington contract immediately after the deal with the Millers. Rondeau reported that he was pleased to join the Washington club.

Will the Cards Cop the Flag?

F you wish to flag the attention of the lunacy commission, the best way to do it is to attempt an answer to the above question. Considering the facts the dropping of a roulette ball could be "doped" out quite as readly as the National League baseball situation.

s readily as the National League baseball situation.

Four clubs of dublous past performances and wholly uncertain future showing are still in the hunt.

Two of them, the Cubs and Glants, appears to have reached a crisis which will decide whether they are wholly broken teams or merely faltering before a final rally.

Another club, St. Louis, appears to have passed its crisis and to be on the mend.

The other club, Boston, has come from behind with a tremendous rush and is still going forward under the impetus, It is facing a situation tilat may set it back considerably.

Omitting the handicap of being three games behind, THE CARDINALS, THEREFORE, APPEAR TO OCCUPY THE MOST ENVIABLE POSITION as regards fitness for making a strong finish. Considerations of schedule and other points are about equal, so optimists consider that the Cards have a shade the edge on rivals as regards opportunity.

That's about the best you can deduce from known facts. You can spend the month of September guessing, however, if you like the sport.

After one had beraied the infielder the other resonted the remark and they were making matters so interesting that a policeman had to pry them spart. Strange to say, Washington fans do not appreciate the great work of McBride.

Wellman evidently was displeased at being removed from the game and he fired his glove into the bench as he strode off the field. After he had muttered something, Manager Flickey followed him to the coop and had a few things to say to the string.

With Giants Idle, Cardinals Have Good Chance to Climb in Standing

A victory today will lift the Cards still another half-game towards the top! The Giants are enjoying an off-day in Cincinnati while the proteges of Huggins will antagonize the toothless Phils. It will be Lumbago Bill Doak vs. Eppa Rizey in the final tilt, play starting at 3:30.

The Pirates came nobly to time yesterday and kicked another hole in the New York pennant ball-son, 5—1, McGraw electing to use Demaree, Fromme and Wiltse so that he might save Mathewson to open against the Reds Friday. Matty always has been able to beat the Rhinelanders in Cincinnati and McGraw is playing things safe.

Boston, with Tyler, one of the great triumvirate, in the saddle, nosed out a 3-2 victory over the Reds, who were piloted by Leon Ames, the hardest luck pitcher in baseball. Ames held the enemy to six hits, but four errors ruined the Reds chances.

The Braves must oppose the rollicking Pirates today and unless Stallings wishes to use Rudolph, who worked only last Monday, he will be

Washington Manager Suspends Young Left-Hander for Failure to Get in Condition.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Joe Beehling, the young left-handed pitcher of the Washington Club, has been sent to his home by Manager Griffith. Boehling has not been in condition to work recently and Griff chased him from the team with the wish that he jump to the Feds.

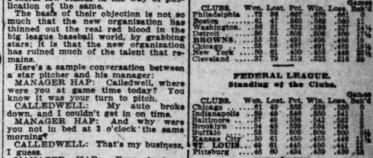

About a month ago, Boehling complained of a sore arm and was sent to Bonesetter Reese to have it adjusted. He returned apparently in good condition, but soon reported that his leg was paining him. After another visit to the Bonesetter Boehling falled to respond to Griff's orders for winning games. Griff reprimanded the young southpaw and at the conclusion ordered him to go home.

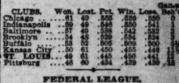

It is reported that Federal League souts have been tempting Boehling while one rumor has it that he has already signed for 1915. According to Griffith, Boehling is through so gerned.

DAILY RECORD OF MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Business on the outside market for securities has increased to such an extent that there is some difficulty in handling the transactions. This has caused agitation in certain quarters for an early opening of the stock exchange.

Some commission house men assert that if outside trading is continued much longer, a permanent organization may be formed. This possibility is not relished by exchange members, who see a lessening of their business, following heavy losses in commissions and expenses, while the market has been closed. The opening of the San Francisco Stock Exchange without serious trouble has had a good influence on sentiment in the financial district.

Foreign news still was uncertain and there was nothing in the early advices to suggest an immediate resumption of business on the London Stock Exchange. The Bank of England's discount rate is unchanged at 5 per cent. BUNGALOWS AND COTTAGES ments, are now turning to American mills to meet their needs. Steel manufacturers are receiving numerous inquiries for finished materials, rolling billets, skelp and wire rods for shipment to England, and one lot of 10,000 tons of billets is nearing the closing stage. The demand for steel bars from the Pacific Coast is surprisingly heavy, and New England consumers, whose supply from Belgian mills has been cut off, are placing orders for their immediate needs with American producers. Inquiries for steel also are being received from South America and Japan, although none has yet been converted into orders. The passage of the shipping bill will relieve the tensity of the export trade aituation to some extent, although the available bottoms will continue to restrict shipments."

Bank Report Is Good.
"The Bank of England's weekly statement fully reflected the remarkable London financiering of the week. With its loans now guaranteed by the British exchecquer, the bank has been rediscounting all the week on such a scale

London financiering of the week. With its loans now guaranteed by the British exchequer, the bank has been rediscounting all the week on such a scale that its office force could not examine names, security and standing with sufficient rapidity to keep up with Lombard street's applications.

"Even today it shut down early in the forencon on the further rediscounts until tomorrow, obviously with a view to overtaking the work already accumulated. The weekly statement shows the result of this process in a loan expansion of $119,600,000, which follows one 527,100,000 in the preceding week and one account has risen.

"The £94,700,000 in this week a year ago and with a previous maximum of £65,-200,000 reached in the last week of December. 1902, when the artificial and temporary 'window dressing' by the London private banks in advance of their half-yearly statements had reached abnormal proportions."

London private banks in advance of their half-yearly statements had reached abnormal proportions."

"On the present occasion, fortunately, the bank has been increasing its stock of gold with equal rapidity. This past week it has gained $24,000,000 on top- of last week's gain of $29,900,000, thus making good the greater part of the $62,000,000 loss of gold in the fortunight ending Aug. 8., during which the panic run on the bank occurred.

"Out-of-town banks showed a disposition to borrow less heavily-here than they have lately done, and in certain cases the New York balances of those institutions were equally increased. This was one of the indications of definite improvement, and although the movement to strengthen New York balances did not go far it was of great significance in showing that the interior was not leaning nearly as heavily upon his market as it did a few days ago.

"What was more, the New York banks willingly made loans to various mercantile interests, and for the first time since the present disturbance began interior banks showed a disposition today to invest moderately in commer-

Transactions have been along almost nominal lines in some banking departments this week, but the fact that wheat, corn and cotton exports are beginning to open up threw out hope to local business interests, and to that extent salivened the opportunities for a more brisk foreign exchange volume in the near future. Interest rates are 6 to 7 per cent at present, and with the best names commanding the latter rate, it is no wonder that almost all of the local banks and trust companies have marked up quotations excepting on their more
